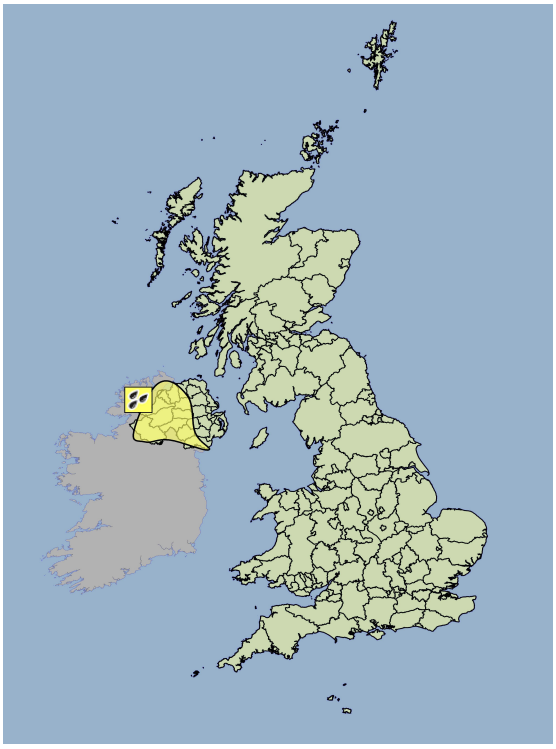
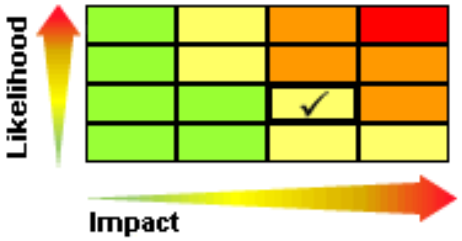
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A slow-moving frontal zone is bringing a lengthy spell of rain and strong winds to Northern Ireland. Rainfall totals of 25-40 mm are expected quite widely within the warning area, with more than 60 mm possible over the hills in the west. Given saturated conditions and high river levels, some localised flooding is likely.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 11:20 on Sat, 05th Dec 2015 until 03:00 on Sun, 06th Dec 2015

Rain, heavy at times, currently affecting Northern Ireland will gradually clear during the early hours of Sunday. The rain will be accompanied by gale or severe gale southwesterly winds, for which a separate warning has been issued. Please be aware of the risk of localised surface water and river flooding, as well as some disruption to transport.
